

Submit Abstracts to the ISTH 2025 Congress

Dear Colleagues,

I am excited to share that abstract submissions will open November 29, 2024, for the ISTH 2025 Congress, which will take place in Washington, D.C., June 21-25, 2025. This is an incredible opportunity to showcase your research, share groundbreaking ideas and collaborate with leading experts in thrombosis and hemostasis from around the world.

The ISTH Congress is a premier event where experts in our field gather to discuss the latest research, innovations and advancements that drive patient care forward. As a part of this vibrant community, your work plays a pivotal role in advancing our collective understanding and improving treatment outcomes.

Why submit an abstract?

- Visibility: Present your research to an international audience and gain recognition for your work.
- Networking: Connect with peers, potential collaborators and industry leaders from around the globe.
- Advancement: Help improve research by contributing to our body of knowledge and clinical practice standards.

Whether you're engaged in basic science, translational research, clinical trials or patient-focused initiatives, your insights can make a significant impact. The congress offers sessions across a wide array of topics, ensuring a platform for all specialties within our field.

Submission Details

- The abstract submission deadline is January 15, 2025.
- Abstracts must be submitted through the ISTH online portal at www.isth2025.org/abstracts, where you will find guidelines and formatting requirements.

To ensure a successful submission, consider engaging your teams early to refine your data and presentation. The ISTH also offers resources and support to help you prepare your abstracts and presentations to the highest standards.

We look forward to seeing your research contribute to the scientific dialogue at ISTH 2025.

Warm regards,
Katrien Devreese
President of the BSTH